ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Many different people have contributed a great deal of their time, talents, and efforts to guarantee that specific activities in the Information and Research Utilization Center in Physical Education and Recreation for the Handicapped (IRUC) were successful. Because of the vastness of IRUC activities, extensive coverage all over the country and involvement of so many different people, it is literally impossible to name all who have participated in and been a part of the IRUC family. Physical education and adapted physical education specialists, recreation and therapeutic recreation personnel, special education classroom teachers, administrators and supervisors, students, parents, paraprofessionals, volunteers, and impaired, disabled, and handicapped individuals themselves all have given so very much. Input, guidance, and assistance have come from personnel connected with colleges and universities, public and private schools, parks and recreation departments, professional associations, voluntary and parent organizations, governmental departments at all levels, hospitals and clinics, residential facilities, day care and activity centers, ad infinitum.

Special thanks, appreciation, and recognition must be reserved for staff members who had Herculean performances of impossible tasks. Dolores M. Geddes, Research and Program Associate, coordinated collection, tabulation, and summarization of state survey data; Terry Ames, IRUC secretary, assisted in tabulating and summarizing information, typed, and proofread the final manuscript; and Wanda L. Burnette, Administrative/Program Coordinator, coordinated production and processing of the final report. To each, a sincere well done with admiration, pride, respect, and gratitude.

PREFACE

WHAT IS IRUC?

The Information and Research Utilization Center in Physical Education and Recreation for the Handicapped (IRUC) has been supported by the Division of Innovation and Development (formerly Research), Bureau of Education for the Handicapped, U. S. Office of Education, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare as a demonstration project (OEG-0-72-5454) since June 30, 1972. Purposes of IRUC have been to:

- Collect, categorize, describe, interpret, and disseminate information and materials about various aspects of adapted physical education and therapeutic recreation programs including information about materials, methods, activities, ongoing programs, promising practices, and demonstration efforts.

- Serve as a research utilization center for adapted physical education and therapeutic recreation programs with particular emphasis on putting theoretical, basic, experimental, and applied research findings into practical operation including consideration given to collecting, evaluating, interpreting, and disseminating research information and findings, and in categorizing studies for use by all publics served by the Center.

More specifically, by the end of the third year IRUC was to accomplish the following objectives:

- Obtain a clearer understanding of the state of the art in physical education, recreation, and related areas for persons with various handicapping conditions through systematic collection of research data, empirical evidence, and program materials and information.

- Provide practitioners with functional information about diverse data systems.

- Assist the Bureau of Education for the Handicapped in establishing research needs and priorities.

Implementation of these goals and objectives has been designed to provide:

- Basis for a dissemination/distribution referral system that (1) supplements and/or complements existing collection/retrieval/dissemination centers/systems/networks in special education, physical education, recreation, and related areas, and (2) promotes greater use of all such systems, materials centers, and information resources by personnel interested and involved in adapted physical education, therapeutic recreation, special education and related areas.

- Data for state of the art statements* to show (1) what has been and/or is going on in physical education, recreation and related areas, and (2) types of research, demonstration, training, and service projects and activities that are needed and should receive priority attention. In addition to identifying and analyzing completed and ongoing research projects and activities, information about ongoing programs, resource people, empirical evidence, and observational reports have provided a more comprehensive view of what is going on in these areas and what are priority needs of personnel in the field.

- Bases for IRUC distributing materials and information to resource groups at national, regional and/or state groups that have been sent materials and information appropriate for each request.

During the three year operation of IRUC the dissemination/distribution system has undergone a series of revisions and modifications. However, the basic approach has changed little and has functioned as follows:

- IRUC distributes materials and information to resource groups at national, regional, and state levels throughout the United States. Listings of representative resource contacts and national agencies, groups, and organizations involved in this process follow this preface.

- Individuals contacting IRUC for assistance are referred to appropriate national, regional and/or state groups that have been sent these materials and information.

- Efforts are continually being made to assist individuals and representatives of groups in understanding how to contact national, regional and/or state level resources directly to obtain appropriate materials and information in areas of interest and concern. Representatives of groups receiving IRUC materials are encouraged to--

  - Let other individuals and groups know about availability of this information and material through their information system, material center, resource network, or organization.

- Place on reference and resource listings.

- Reproduce appropriate items in toto or in part for distribution.

- Place items on reserve in school/institutional or departmental libraries.

- Loan through various library procedures.

- Use information and materials as references and resources for classes, inservice programs, orientation projects, other training activities, and in both formal and informal classes.

- Place items on display, in exhibits, or bulletin boards, and/or use information in other ways to let people know about them.

- Include items in toto or in part in journal, periodical, or newsletter features, columns, or special articles.

- Make available in any other way possible to persons served.

INTRODUCTION

During 1972 to 1975, the Information and Research Utilization Center in Physical Education and Recreation for the Handicapped (IRUC) conducted a survey in each state to identify resource people and programs which were concerned with physical education, recreation, and/or related areas for individuals with various handicapping conditions. Information was obtained primarily from completed survey forms (Appendices A & B), reports from persons in some states who coordinated part or all of a state survey, available literature, and a variety of other sources, such as newspaper clippings, project reports, and printed materials. Since the survey was not of a research nature or statistical design, and since information was gathered from many diverse sources, accuracy of information contained in summary sheets* is directly related to accuracy and completeness of data provided by these sources. When appropriate and necessary in each state to obtain further information and/or mailing lists, contact was made with persons active in the field or in positions to assist in the survey: state supervisors/coordinators of physical education, special education and recreation; state directors of recreation or therapeutic recreation; mental health/mental retardation state coordinators; IRUC resource contacts; many other personnel such as representatives of related organizations, groups and agencies.

Although extensive efforts were made to identify program and personnel resources, information obtained ranged from very little in some states to large numbers of resources in other states. Factors such as variation in each state in level or status of programing, complexity of the survey task, lack of accurate and/or usable mailing lists, the fact that people have been over-surveyed, and differences in existing state plans or organizational structures influenced quanity and quality of responses. Lack of funds to enclose stamped, self-addressed envelopes or make follow-up contacts (Appendix C) also influenced the relatively small number of responses from those contacted.

Summary

It was noted that there was a wide range of knowledge on the part of state agency/organization personnel concerning what was going on in their states in physical education, recreation, and related areas for impaired, disabled, and handicapped persons. Responses to IRUC requests ranged from reactions of people who had no knowledge at all about status of programing or resource contacts to information from well versed and active personnel which was of tremendous assistance to the IRUC staff.

*Individual program and personnel forms were summarized on summary sheets which are contained in this report and then filed in state folders in IRUC files.

Implications for future needs which were indicated as a result of this survey included need for--

- ...accurate and usable state mailing lists.
- ...further, more in-depth identification of people and program resources which is periodically revised due to changes in names and addresses.
- ...better cooperation and less duplication of effort in resource surveys between groups such as professional associations, agencies, voluntary health organizations, local/state/regional groups, information systems, materials centers, and resource networks.
- ...greater coordination and less duplication of effort among Regional Resource Centers/Coordinating Office for Regional Resource Centers (RRC/CORRC) and Area Learning Resource Centers/National Center for Educational Materials and Media for the Handicapped (NCEMMH) systems during program survey procedures.
- ...more knowledge concerning status of programing and available resources on the part of state agency or state department of education personnel.
- ...overall state plans in physical education and recreation for impaired, disabled and handicapped individuals.
- ...including and integrating physical education, recreation, and related program areas for special populations in existing state plans such as those dealing with developmental disabilities, mental retardation, mental health, and outdoor recreation.

Resource Program and Personnel Summary Sheets

State survey summary sheets for resource programs and personnel are presented in alphabetical order in the following section.* In addition, national agencies, groups, and organizations which might be contacted to obtain further information are listed in the section of this report that deals with the IRUC Dissemination/Distribution/Referral System.

*A code sheet explaining the coding system used during completion of the summary sheets is provided at the beginning of state summary section.

HELP!

The Information and Research Utilization Center in Physical Education and Recreation for the Handicapped (IRUC) is conducting a survey to identify resources in your state -- programs and people in physical education and recreation for individuals with handicapping conditions. A brochure about IRUC is enclosed for your information; it explains need for the survey and why IRUC is assuming this responsibility.

Results of the survey will be distributed to various information systems and materials centers in addition to other dissemination contacts. If you are interested in obtaining a survey summary and/or a list of resources in a particular state, please contact IRUC at a later date.

Please complete enclosed forms at your earliest convenience and return them in the prepaid addressed envelope. The forms will take only a few minutes of your time -- your efforts will be greatly appreciated by all concerned. If you know of other programs or personnel the Center should contact, please include these references for our follow-up.

Thank you very much for your assistance.

SUMMARY OF RANDOM SAMPLES

In early May, 1974, ongoing survey procedures which did not employ follow-up procedures or enclosure of a stamped, self-addressed envelope were compared with a sample mailing which used several combinations of such procedures. In the first and only mailing of the New Jersey survey, 100 survey contacts were randomly selected to receive self-addressed, stamped return envelopes with the survey packet (group 1) and 100 survey contacts were randomly selected to be sent the survey packet without a return envelope (group 2). No follow-up procedures were employed; the mailing list was considered satisfactory to good in terms of including accurate names and addresses of public (188) and Catholic (12) schools which probably had physical education and/or recreation for handicapped individuals. Group 1 returns were 19 (19%) and group 2 returns were 8 (8%). This indicated the procedure for group 1 was a little more than twice as effective. In the West Virginia survey, a second follow-up mailing in May, 1974, after an initial survey mailing in March, 1974, was sent to public schools which had special education classes. One hundred survey contacts were randomly selected to receive self-addressed, stamped envelopes and explanatory memoranda with survey packets (group 1) and 100 survey contacts were randomly selected to be sent survey packets without return envelopes or memoranda (group 2). Group 1 returns were 16 (16%) and group 2 returns were 15 (15%). The mailing list was considered satisfactory in terms of accurate public school names and addresses but status of programing in physical education and recreation for the handicapped was unknown. No difference in results due to procedures used in group 1 or 2 was apparent for West Virginia survey.
